New CEO of A-Aqua AS

Lars Christensson is appointed as new CEO of A-Aqua AS.

He holds a M.Sc Mechanical and Petroleum Engineering.

Lars has many years of experience in sales and business development from Det Norske Veritas and the Norsk Leca / Saint Gobain – system, where he was responsible for developing the Filtralite product.

Lars will be a good contributor for the development and sales for our solutions to municipal water emergency and the humanitarian aid sector.

A-Aqua AS has been a supplier to the water and wastewater sector since 1985 and has extensive experience, good references and an established position in the sector.

Our parent company, Malthe Winje Group (MWG), has a 90 years' history as a solid brand of technique in various infrastructure sectors. With more than 100 engineers in the group we will find synergies with sister companies in MWG allowing A-Aqua to provide complete and complex solutions by incorporating automation solutions from our sister company Malthe Winje Automation.
